Students will grow it, then cook it

Students at West Side Community School are working with their teachers to create planters and a chef's garden in the space behind their Merkley Ave., store-front classroom.

The garden will be used to grow herbs and vegetables in support of a "culinary school" to be operated in conjunction with the county schools department this summer – in which students will learn as many aspects as possible of the restaurant business.

The staff and kids have brought in various planters to the concrete-topped alleyway behind their school, filling them with soil and young plants in an area just a free-throw away from their basketball hoop.

Some of the students involved include April Baird, Sharon Baird, Chris Castro, Bonnie Hengeveld, Ruben Mojica, Anthony Lomeli, Braden Richards, Ryan Rozalski, Ou Saetern and Ou V. Saechao.

The school is an alternative high school run by the county schools department and the Washington Unified School District. The school tries to emphasize knowledge and preparation for trade professions.

The gardening effort can use donations of tools and materials, reports staff member Heidi Hernandez. Anyone who can help is invited to call 375-0235.

Motive unclear:

Four victims treated, suspects at large in Merkley stabbing

Four men were hospitalized in critical condition following a stabbing incident at about 10 p.m. Friday night at an apartment complex on the 1700-block of Merkley Ave.

Police sources report that the four victims were found outside the apartments when police received a report of a stabbing, and were rushed to area hospitals for treatment. Three of the men were from West Sacramento, and a fourth was reported to be from Elk Grove.

Officer Amy Weirich reports that two of the men have since been released from the hospital. One of those had been stabbed in the area of his kidneys, and the other in the buttocks. A third victim, stabbed in the chest, and a fourth man, stabbed in the abdomen, remain hospitalized in stable condition.

Following the incident, about ten West Sacramento police officers joined a Sacramento County Sheriff's Dept. helicopter in searching the West Sacramento area for the suspects.

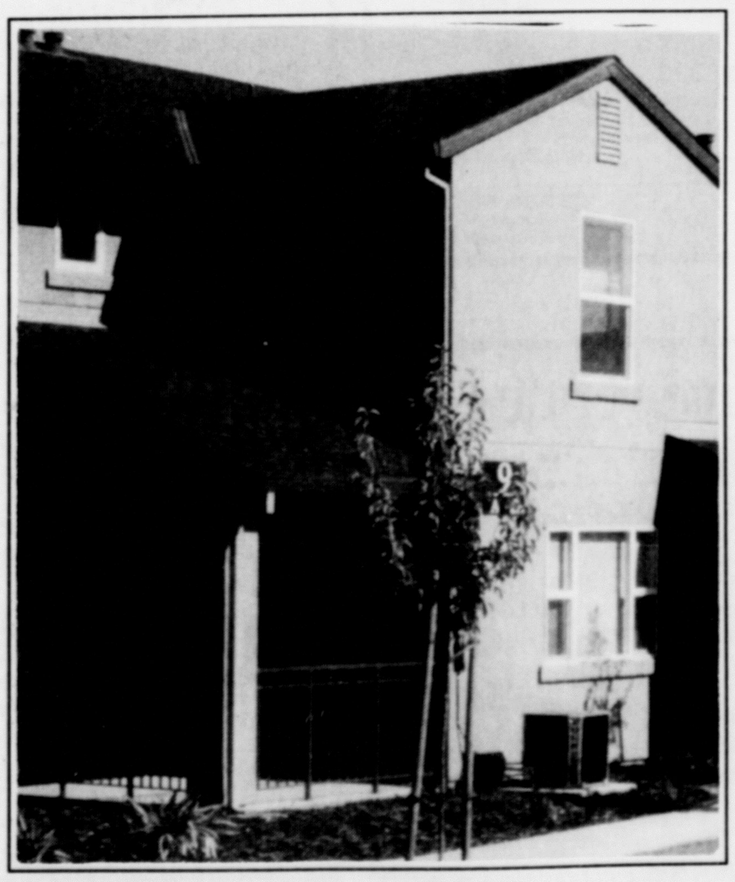
Initial police information indicates there were three suspects. One was described as a white male, age 18-20, 180 pounds, with blue or green eyes and a thin mustache. He was wearing a white T-shirt, black shorts, white high-top socks and maroon-colored shoes. No information was available on other suspects.

Officer Weirich said she had no information to release on a possible motive for the stabbings.

Anyone with information is asked to contact Detective Erik Thruelsen or Sgt. Tom Bowler at 372-2461.

'Las Casitas': yet to open—

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor



LAS CASITAS: security fence and guard have become a familiar sight at the long-delayed complex

An 88-unit "replacement housing" complex at the intersection of Douglas and Cummins Way in West Sacramento remains nearly ready, but delayed by bureaucratic details. A consultant working with the Yolo County Housing Authority explained yesterday that – with luck – residents may get approval to move in by June.

Dick Bornholdt, the consultant for the Y.C.H.A., said that various technical and legal details involved in the project have delayed the opening of "Las Casitas" by several months.

"At the last minute, HUD (the federal Housing and Urban Development Dept., which provides major funding for the housing authority project) required an appraisal of the new units," said Bornholdt of the most recent delay. "That probably took a month or a month and a half."

The appraisal now stands ready and supports the value of the property to be handed over to the authority, he said.

The multi-party project also involves the city of West Sacramento, the planned Lighthouse residential development and the West Sacramento Housing Development Corporation. Twelve of its units are necessitated to replace housing demolished in the expansion of Fifth Street near Lighthouse, done to make way for Lighthouse's entrance. Those 12 units will be operated by the West Sacrmaento Housing Development Corporation when they are filled.

The other 76 units "are replacements for some existing (Y.C.H.A.) units that are to be relocated," said Bornholdt. "The city of West Sacramento and Lighthouse got together to build the replacement units." The "old" Y.C.H.A. units also don't fit into Lighthouse's plans.

The 88 units from the two different housing replacement deals are built next to each other "so it looks like it's all part of the same project," he added. "The units are essentially complete; there's just a 'punch list' of minor things left."

When HUD and the other parties are satisfied that their terms are met, the 76 new Y.C.H.A. units will be transferred to the housing authority "and once we have title, we can give permission for people to move in. Residents of the nearby, "old" Y.C.H.A. units will then make a short move to their new homes at Las Casitas.

The Lighthouse development itself has been long-stalled for financial reasons.

Clarification

Last week's News-Ledger carried an article in which Leonard Strickland, identified as president of the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce, discussed the performance of a local school board member.

Mr. Strickland emphasizes that the comments were made while he was participating on a local citizen's commission, and that his views do not necessarily reflect those of the Chamber.

West Sacto teen arrested in stabbing of second 17-year old

A West Sacramento teen was taken by "Life Flight" helicopter to Sutter Roseville Hospital after being stabbed at a gathering on the 1600-block of Alabama Ave. early Saturday morning.

He was hospitalized in critical condition.

According to police sources, the stabbing occurred at about 12:50 a.m. Saturday after the victim and a suspect (both of whom are local 17-year old boys) argued. The victim was stabbed five times in the back.

The suspect was arrested later Saturday morning.

His name was withheld due to his age.

Anyone with information on the incident is asked to call Detective Mark Tingley or Sgt. Tom Bowler at 372-2461.

'Technology Night' at GSMS

By Cindy Moody-Perkins
Golden State Middle School

On Wednesday, May 9, Golden State Middle School held it's second annual Family Technology Night. The lucky people who were able to attend were treated to an evening packed with fun, information and education involving some of the exciting new advances in education technology.

The first 100 of the more than 250 people who came out to participate in the evening's festivities automatically received a free Technology Night T-shirt. Then, after Principal Ken Whittemore's welcome and opening comments, Golden State students and their parents went off to enjoy the various programs which had been set up for them. They were able to participate in hands-on activities on computers, watch numerous demonstrations on how computers are used at GSMS, and learn about safety concerns when children are using the Internet. Most of the parents seemed to be impressed and all were enthusiastic about the evening's activities as well as the positive impact this technology is having on their children. Several parents of incoming 7th graders commented that they were looking forward to their child attending GSMS next year.

The evening ended with a drawing for the opportunity for students in attendance to win a variety of outstanding door prizes. Phylene Bonilla was the most surprised when her name was called for the grand prize, a Dell Laptop computer!

Golden State would like to thank the following community businesses for their generous contribution of door prizes: Club Pheasant, Denny's Restaurant, Emma's Taco House, LaBou, Mountain Mike's Pizza, Raley's, Sacramento River Cats, Wild West Feed and Pet Supplies, Teletex of Stockton, and Primrose Ranch of Winters.

Agenda not publicized as required, but school board opts to proceed

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A closed-session meeting of the Washington Unified School District trustees last week wasn't properly posted in advance as state law requires, but the meeting continued anyway.

California's Ralph M. Brown Act governs public meetings, and among other things, requires advance posting of their agendas. When the posting error was discovered Tuesday, school board president David Farmer telephoned board members and this newspaper to make sure they were aware of the scheduled meeting.

Farmer said it was his call to proceed with the meeting despite the error.

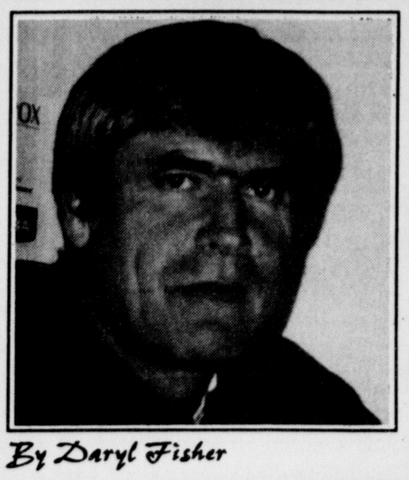
"It was a continuation of our prior meeting with our consultant (involved in the search for a new superintendent)," Farmer explained yesterday. "When we found out that day that it wasn't posted, I took that action to ensure that our time wasn't wasted."

He noted that the board's consultant on the search was from outside the area, and had planned a visit to West Sacramento to coincide with the meeting.

One less pair of hands: remembering Bruce Williams

Note: As hard as it is to believe, in another week, West Sacramento will have been without Bruce Williams for nine whole years. The following column, which first appeared in the News-Ledger during the holiday season following Bruce's unexpected death from leukemia in late May of 1992, is reprinted here in remembrance of an uncommonly good and kind man who graced our community for all of his 45 years.

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

The Thanksgiving holiday means different things to different people. For my parents, it's a time to get together with all their kids and grandchildren for a big turkey dinner; for my oldest son, it means his birthday is only a few hours away; for my other two sons, it means a glorious week off from school; and for my wife and daughter, it means cheerfully sorting through a bejillion newspaper ads in search of slashed prices and potential Christmas presents.

For a number of years, though, Thanksgiving weekend has also meant that it was time for me to get off my duff and help out with the setting up of the West Sacramento Little League Christmas tree lot.

There has been a WSLL Christmas tree lot ever since I can remember. For years, it was the league's most important fundraiser, and countless West Sacramentans have participated in going up to the snow line on Thanksgiving weekend to truck back the trees and set up the lot. Hundreds more have volunteered their time to help sell the trees, usually signing up for one or more nights during the Christmas season to watch over the lot and assist customers in locating the perfect tree.

Most of the people who have spent a number of years working at the Christmas tree lot will tell you that it quickly turns into a labor of love. In fact, I know of nothing which puts one into the Christmas spirit faster than an evening of assisting young boys and girls hunt for that one special tree, which when located, so obviously belongs in their house.

During those years when I spent a number of late November and early December evenings at the lot, there was always one person I could count on to help me out on short notice. I would often phone him on a Friday or Saturday night and plead with him to replace someone who had plans they just couldn't cancel.

"You don't have to beg me, Fish," Bruce Williams would say, using an old childhood nickname he knew I hated. "You know I love selling them trees."

I would thank him profusely and then yell, "And stop calling me Fish!"

When Bruce arrived at the Christmas tree lot, he would always be properly outfitted for the occasion. Unlike me (who could never remember to bundle up and wear gloves), Bruce was an experienced outdoorsman and he would always stroll in decked out like he was going on a camping trip to the Himalayas. While I would jump up and down in my windbreaker and blow on my hands in an unsuccessful effort to stay warm, he would wander all around the lot, talking to just about everyone (Bruce always loved to 'visit') who walked through the gate, obviously enjoying himself and snug as a bug in a rug in his thick down jacket.

When the customers would finally begin to thin out, we would often stand around and talk for hours about the good ol' days, when growing up in West Sacramento seemed so uncomplicated. For most of the years of our youth, Bruce and I lived only a couple of blocks away from each other, he on Rockrose Road, and me on Michigan Boulevard. We started high school at James Marshall together in 1961 (by the way, he was voted the best looking boy in the entire school in his senior year) and we were in countless classes together. Later on we coached our sons together in Little League and our shared memories stretched all the way back to choosing each other on the same pickup teams in P.E., to hating pretty much the same teachers, and to even dating some of the same girls.

As the nights at the Christmas tree lot would get late, we would almost always get around to swapping war stories about Vietnam. He'd tell me about some of the hot LZ's he had flown into and describe some of the many exotic places he had seen during his travels with the United States Air Force, and I would brag on the First Infantry Division and admit to being scared to death most of the time I was there. The night would fly by and I would always leave the lot grateful that after all these years, Bruce Williams was still my friend.

Bruce has been gone for over six months now, and for all those many people whose lives he touched (including my daughter and oldest son, who have long been convinced that Bruce Williams was the nicest guy in West Sacramento) this will be their first Christmas without him. It's not going to be easy for any of us, but in this special season of thanksgiving, how thankful I am for all my memories of Bruce, and especially for those chilly nights together at the Little League Christmas tree lot.

Tony Venditti update: Shannon Freeman, who is very close to Tony and also his cousin, had this to say about his condition as of Monday: "The doctors are now having Tony sit up in a special chair twice a day for an hour or two at a time to give him a little exercise and help his circulation. His mother, Carolyn, is also doing a really good job learning all the things she'll need to know to help Tony when he finally goes home. Also, when you are in Tony's room at the hospital, he sometimes smiles and makes funny little faces to kind of acknowledge your presence. All the family is still hoping for the best. Everyone please keep praying."

SPORTS

SPORTS INSIDER

By Richard Novoa

The Shaq and Kobe show continue to dominate the NBA championship playoffs with their 17th win in row as the Lakers head back to Los Angeles with a 2-0 lead over the San Antonio Spurs. The Spurs are still experiencing what the Sacramento Kings and the rest of the Western Division conference teams faced - the Shaq and Kobe show! These two guys can take over a basketball game in a matter of minutes. Wait until the Spurs see them both show off in the same game. The Lakers are won 17 consecutive games, including ninth in the playoffs! Last week I liked the Lakers in six games but now can you say sweep!

In the East the Milwaukee Bucks outlasted the Hornets in seven games while Allen Iverson and Mutombo guided the 76ers past the Raptors in a thrilling seven game series. Both these teams are tired and a little banged up but I still like the leagues MVP, Allan Iverson, to carry the 76ers to the NBA finals. The Sixers in six games!

The NBA draft was a big highlight this weekend with Michael Jordan and the Washington Wizards coming out with the 2001 number one draft pick on June 27th. The Wizards need lots of help but I think Jordan will play it safe and select Duke's Shane Battier. The Los Angeles Clippers will improve on their young team with the second pick while the Atlanta Hawks came out with the 3rd pick. The Sacramento Kings will draft in the 25th spot if they don't trade up in a Chris Webber deal!

The Giants are still on the road but Barry Bonds continues to set career home run records. Bonds became the 23rd players to hit six home runs in three games and only the eighth to hit six homers in three games. He has hit 8 HRs in the last five games to pass Eddie Murray, Mel Ott, Eddie Matthews and Ernie Banks on the all time list. Bonds now ranks 13th in the all time list with 517. Who's next on the all time home run list? It's Willie McCovey and Ted Williams, who are tied with 521 home runs! The Giants are home this weekend starting on Thursday, May 24th for a four game series against the Colorado Rockies.

The Oakland A's (21-22) are still on a roll winning their last 10 games out of 12 and 13 in the last 18 ball games. The A's were perfect this home stand winning all six games but they just can't catch up with the Seattle Mariners, who are leading the division with a 32-11 record. The A's still trail the Mariners by 11 games! The A's are on the road this week traveling to Kansas City and Minnesota.

The River Cats are on the road but return to Raley Field this Memorial Weekend to host the Las Vegas 51s starting on Friday night May, 25th. The Gatos will have a big fireworks night on Saturday night and a day game on Sunday starting at 1 p.m. against the same 51s.

See ya next week!

Raider doubles tennis teams win sectional crown

River City High School athletic history was made last week at Stockton's Oak Park as Raider tennis players captured a pair of Sac-Joaquin Section Division III doubles championships. The R.C. victories were the first Section titles ever for the school in the girls and mixed doubles events, and just the second and third overall.

In girls doubles, River City sent two teams to the Section tourney, Golden Empire League West tournament champions Erin Cheechov and Keonakone Lattasima and runners up Ka Yang and Nikki Hansen. The latter duo won their first round encounter with Highlands' Higginbotham and Sana 6-4,6-4 before falling to Amador's Tabar and Durkin 3-6, in the quarterfinals. Cheechov and Lattasima received a first round bye and then cruised past Colfax's Phillips and Benney 6-2,6-1 in the quarters and Ripon Christian's Viss and Schoonover 6-0,6-2 in the semifinals. In the championship match, the Raider pair won a long and exciting contest against the Amador team 6-2, 6-7(3),6-4. The win was extra sweet as it came a year after Cheechov and Lattasima had lost the girls doubles final in three sets at the 2000 Section tournament.

In mixed doubles, the Raiders also had two pairs in Stockton, G.E.L. West tournament winners Sokpin Phoung and Sokhear Touch and the second place team of Michelle Jones and Tuan Nguyen. Jones and Nguyen outlasted Jordan and Magnuson of Bret Harte in an opening round match 6-3,6-7(8),6-4 before fading in the third set of their quarterfinal contest against Modesto's Central Catholic 6-3,6-7(8),0-6. Phoung and Touch came back from a set down to squeeze past Summmerville's Ferguson and Davis 4-6,7-5,6-4 in the quarters after a first round bye and then defeated Center's Cottrell and Huff 6-1,5-2, retired in the semis. In the title match, the R.C. pair blew past Peot and Boos of Central Catholic 6-2,6-3.

River City Coach Dave Brooks was understandably thrilled with the days history-making matches.

"I told the kids we've waited seventeen years since the first Section title for River City, which came in boys doubles, to get the second, and then we only had to wait about forty minutes for the third," said Brooks. "Hopefully, this will carry over into the team playoffs."

The Section Team playoffs take place this week with River City hosting Patterson of the Trans Valley League in a quarterfinal match. The Raiders enter the team playoffs with a record of 22 wins and just two losses in 2001.

Tryouts coming for Legion baseball

The West Sacramento American Legion baseball teams will be having a workout on the next two Saturdays, May 19th and 26th, at 10 a.m. at River City High School. Because West Sacramento will be fielding two teams (Junior and Senior), chances of making one of the teams are very good. The new Junior Legion team will be coached by Bob Backman and Larry Meza and some of the games will be played at Raley Field.

Players who for one reason or another are not playing high school ball are especially encouraged to attend the workouts, as are players from Bryte, Broderick and the Washington Senior League.

You are the answer to California's Energy Challenge!

Right now California is experiencing energy shortages, and energy costs are going up. We sometimes take energy for granted, but our decisions about how we use it at home and in the office are important.

Inexpensive energy solutions

With a quick trip to your local hardware store, you have even more choices at hand.

Install a programmable thermostat—Accidentally leaving the heat on while you are out for the day becomes a thing of the past. If you have a heat pump, be sure to select a model designed for your system.

Install low flow showerheads—You'll be surprised how much this simple device can cut your hot water costs.

Wrap your hot water tank with jacket insulation—If your water heater is gas, be sure to leave the air intake vent uncovered.

Plug your home's leaks — Weather-strip or caulk leaky doors and windows, and cover your outlets.

Replace furnace filters once a month — Dirty filters restrict airflow and increase energy use. Keep your furnace clean, lubricated and properly adjusted.

MAKING LIFE MORE FUN

Summer Nature Camps For The Whole Family

(NAPS)—From canoe building and whitewater rafting to ornithology and nature photography and more, Audubon summer camps are once again ready to offer these and other outdoor experiences to adults, families and children.

Programs at Audubon nature camps are designed to reflect the local environment.

Located in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Maine and Vermont, the five nature camps of the National Audubon Society offer a variety of unusual and exciting outdoor activities for all ages.

Each location offers programs that highlight the area's unique local landscape.

Wisconsin's camp uses the onsite glacial lakes and floating bogs to teach youths about aquatic life, while adult campers at Maine's ornithology session will have a chance to study the Atlantic Puffin, a bird whose only colonies in the U.S. are located off of Maine's rocky coast.

"Audubon's camp programs reflect our commitment to environmental education," said Mike Link, director, Audubon Center of the North Woods. "We believe that people can become interested in nature and learn about it at any age."

For more information or to register, contact the appropriate Audubon camp directly: Maine, 888/325-5261; Minnesota, 888/404-7743; Wisconsin, 877/777-8383; and Vermont, 877/753-2165. To register online please visit, www.audubon.org/educate/cw.

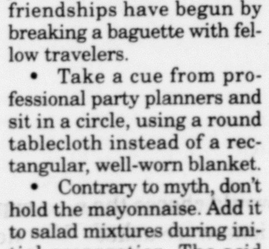
Tips For Packing A Creative Picnic



Top-quality ingredients and a sense of occasion can make for fresh, fun picnic fare.

(NAPS)—When it comes to stocking a picnic basket, there's no reason to settle for the same old fare. With a few expert tips and a bit of creativity, you can create a casual repast that will have family members—not to mention Yogi Bear—salivating.

The first "pique-niques" were social events where each guest provided a share of the food. They later became outdoor excursions to a place in the country where friends could meet and provisions be shared. The word "picnic" was adopted in England sometime after 1800 and, by the mid-1800s, the concept had caught on in the U.S.

"Almost any occasion can be perfect for picnicking," says Sarah Leah Chase, picnic expert and author of The Nantucket Open-House Cookbook. "And I wouldn't think of heading off for a summer day at the beach or a stargazing adventure without a charming picnic basket brimming with fun-filled treats."

One tip, Chase suggests, is to use top-quality ingredients. For example, when making salads, quiches and sandwiches, go for real mayonnaise, such as Hellmann's® and Best Foods® brands. These creamy condiments add smooth texture to favorite picnic foods, such as this delectable recipe:

Seashell Pasta Salad
Prep time: about 20 minutes

4 oz. small seashell pasta, cooked, drained and cooled
1 pkg. (9 oz.) frozen baby peas, thawed
3 oz. thinly sliced prosciutto or ham, minced
¼ cup pine nuts, lightly toasted
½ cup Hellmann's® or Best Foods® Real Mayonnaise
⅓ cup prepared pesto (purchased or homemade)
1 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

1. In large bowl, combine pasta, peas, prosciutto and pine nuts.

2. Stir in mayonnaise, pesto and lemon juice until well combined. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Chill until ready to serve. Garnish with basil sprigs, if desired.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Chase offers these additional tips to help enhance the occasion:

- Make food safety a top priority by keeping chilled food cold with freezer packs or coolers.
- Celebrate seasonal and regional foods, including new variations on old picnic standbys—chicken, tuna, potato salad, etc.
- Don't be afraid to pack a little extra food. Picnicking is conducive to making friends and sharing. Europeans always pack picnics for train journeys and many lifelong friendships have begun by breaking a baguette with fellow travelers.
- Take a cue from professional party planners and sit in a circle, using a round tablecloth instead of a rectangular, well-worn blanket.
- Contrary to myth, don't hold the mayonnaise. Add it to salad mixtures during initial preparation. The acid and salt in commercial mayonnaise actually helps to protect food from spoilage.
- Unleash the whimsy. Search out an old-fashioned picnic basket for carrying the meal.

OPINION

Letters to the Editor

Westvik responds

When a rather unimportant meeting a month ago makes the front page (May 18) of the News-Ledger one can only assume it must have been a really slow news week. The schools are all having Open House activities and modernization of all of our schools for the first time in thirty years is beginning but obviously these are not worthy news events.

I was asked to attend this meeting on April 18 since the board president was out of town but apparently not even the interim superintendent was aware of the agenda for the meeting. I was told it was a meeting with a Blue Ribbon Commission and I assumed it would be a meeting to discuss how we could work together to improve our schools. I had welcomed this commission and felt it would be very useful for the city and school to work toward a common goal. I don't know what the agenda for this meeting was but working with the Board of Education surely was not a priority.

Your article begins with the headline indicating "Two school boards, different opinions". There was no difference of opinion between the two boards. The only question they were asked by me is if they thought that the State Academic Standards and reduced class size might also have been helpful. At no time was there a word of disagreement between the Sacramento Board or the WUSD Board members. I agree, and have always agreed, that all board members need to work together.

I do find it interesting that the Blue Ribbon Commission seems to think that Sacramento City should be our model. A little research would have told them that districts like Center and Rio Linda are more like WUSD and have demonstrated a far greater level of success.

The quotes from your article make it very clear why the meeting might be described as "contentious". At some point in the meeting some members of the West Sacramento group began to criticize the procedure being used in the superintendent search. Some statements were accusatory, inaccurate and insulting. According to your article, Mr. Strickland stated "the discussion became heated after questions about how the WUSD would choose the next superintendent." No questions were asked. No one asked what the procedure was. No one seemed interested in the fact that Rudi Gatti has been employed by a unanimous vote of the board to assist in this search. I think I can say, without question, that the board, with Mr. Gatti's expertise, has proceeded in a very professional and organized fashion.

If the local people wished to castigate the board, it would have been better to have done so in another setting. There was no reason to cause an embarrassing situation with people of Sacramento in attendance. Even as a child, I learned that one does not "wash your dirty linen in public"!

The most saddening part of your article was the personal attack on me by Mr. Strickland. I have talked to Mr. Strickland for no more than 30 seconds in my entire life yet he seems willing to say what I am thinking, my philosophy of education and what concepts I am able to grasp. He then continued to demonstrate his ignorance of me by stating that I practice "micro managing the district". A simple call to any of three previous superintendents or any district staff would have verified that I very likely micro manage less than any board member. As a former educator and administrator I am very aware of the appropriate role of the superintendent and the board.

If thinking that teaching children to read is the most important thing a school needs to do, that the board should not waste the taxpayer's money, that categorical funding should be used for its intended purpose, and that if something positive is happening in the school, it is very likely due to some good teachers and not by the actions of some self-aggrandizing school board is an example of "tradition-oriented and old way of thinking", I proudly plead guilty.

On several of my trips to the Midwest I have been impressed by some things I observed in towns approximately the size of West Sacramento. At the entrance of one of the towns the Chamber of Commerce had erected a large permanent billboard congratulating the graduating class. I was told that other positive education announcements were displayed at other times of the year. In another town found that many of the local building had large wire bins in front of their place of business in which customers were encouraged to recycle al;ammonium cans to assist their outstanding marching band. It was apparent that these business people supported their schools in a positive manner.

I welcome the efforts of the Blue Ribbon Commission but, unfortunately, this meeting was a very poor example of "working together". Sadly, the blame game and the finger pointing displayed at this meeting or the quotations in your article are not going to be helpful.

Chamber supports education

I feel it is my responsibility as Executive Director of the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce to restate the Chamber's mission, regarding education.

The Chamber of Commerce has a long-standing tradition of being involved with the Washington Unified School District. We have worked closely with the district on numerous projects such as establishing mentoring programs, and awarding scholarships, just to name a few.

In the May 16, 2001 edition of West Sacramento News-Ledger our president, Len Strickland (who is also a member of the Mayor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Education) was quoted in regard to a meeting that Len and I attended.

Mr. Strickland's comments were reflective of his position as a member of the Mayor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Education, on which he represents the business community via the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce (current president). The Chamber would like to remind the school board that it is our policy not to endorse political candidates, including vacancies for the school board, or the Superintendent of Schools.

In closing, I would like to make it clear that the Chamber plans to continue its long-standing commitment to education.

Statehood for Puerto Rico

What is the future of Puerto Rico after the bombing by the U.S. Navy on the island of Vieques this year?

The Puerto Rican people have already rejected a statehood vote in 1998 that was non-binding. But with so many intangibles no one can say for sure what the economic effect of statehood would be for Puerto Rico.

Statehood is the only answer if Puerto Rico is to confront the 21st century and for growth to take place. The present commonwealth has made the people voiceless as U.S. citizens who cannot vote on the federal level or receive federal aid in 2001.

Statehood will become a very important issue in this century for the people of Puerto Rico. It remains to be seen how Washington D.C. views the importance of this small island in the Caribbean. Will it be ignored in 2001.

Today, Congress and the Senate must define its national interest concerning Puerto Rico. This is a transformation issue that has to be addressed with the spirit of democracy to resolve one of the last vestiges of colonialism in America!

May 16, 5:15 p.m.
On Rockford Rd., an officer responded to a report that two dogs charged a pregnant woman as she exited her vehicle with an infant. One dog also charged the officer, who retreated to his vehicle. A police sergeant arrived with a shotgun loaded with a "stun bag," and fired the weapon once as the dog appeared to ready itself to charge him. The round hit the dog in the chest, and the dog and its companion then retreated to their yard. Their owner was cited. The woman and child were unhurt.

May 16, 8:10 a.m.

May 16, 8:10 p.m.
Two officers were flagged down by a witness to a car accident in a field near Crown & Manchester. They found a vehicle upside down. A witness reported that a woman and two youths walked away from the accident, and that the woman lived nearby. Police determined the woman was "four-wheeling" with her 13-year old daughter and a 14-year old acquaintance when the vehicle flipped. They were located, and the youths had minor injuries. The woman's blood alcohol level was 0.14 (legal limit is 0.08). She was arrested.

May 16, 10:35 p.m.
A robbery was reported at a West Capitol Ave. trailer park. According to the reporting party, two suspects entered the trailer after a couple of inquiries about acquaintances, and showed a handgun and demanded money. They were given $2,000 in cash from a safe, and also took $25 and a cell phone from a victim's purse. Police were not confident that they were being told the entire story.

May 18, 11:15 a.m.

An officer contacted a 20-year old Stone Ct. man driving away from the scene of a reported domestic dispute. The man had no driver's license. He attempted to flee on foot, "with negative results." The man was arrested, and a search turned up 3.5 grams of methamphetamine in his possession.

May 20, 2:02 p.m.
A Taber St. woman reported that her young adult son with a mental handicap was missing.

May 20, 1:17 p.m.
A West Capitol Ave. business reported that a known suspect had vandalized a coin-operated vacuum machine.

May 20, 4:44 p.m.
A youth told police that the youth's parents were staying in various motels, and because they had drug problems, the youth frequently received only one meal per day. A child abuse report was taken.

May 20, 4:55 p.m.
On third St., an 82-year old man flagged down an officer and pointed out a nearby 21-year old woman who had pushed him to the concrete, stolen his cane, and struck him in the back with it. The man had visible minor injuries. Police determined the woman was intoxicated and on probation. She was arrested.
